FROM THE PRESIDENT: Although RCHS did not have a planned summer event, many members attended several events in the county, such as the Blackman Community BBQ and the Sam Davis Home's Soiree. Not only is it fun, it is good for RCHS to support Rutherford Co. Community events. The work on the Ransom School Museum driveway, landscaping and fencing is taking place. We have had so much rain the project has been slow. Come by the RSM on Saturday mornings to see the progress, or visit RCHS on the web and Facebook page.

1. Revolutionary War Soldiers who lived in Rutherford County [to be continued] 2-10

AUGUST 1

Linebaugh Library will have their Literacy Day in partnership with "Read to Succeed." Olive Branch Church and others. RCHS has been invited to set up a table and sell books from our collection. Authors of our books are invited to autograph copies, answer questions about their book(s) and encourage children and adults to learn about Rutherford County History.

The event will take place in Linebaugh Library's Children's Room from 9 am to 12 noon. We hope several of our authors can participate in this event. If you feel you can only be there for an hour, that is fine. It is important to contact Carol Ghattas, Branch Librarian (615-893-4131, ext. 119) or Joyce Johnson (615-867-7254) as soon as possible.
